TRAINING SCHOOLS
This Was the Subject of Discussion at the Training School Last Week

The training school, it would seem, was actually beginning to attract some attention throughout the state, and the future of the institution is even spreading to adjoining states. On Friday and Saturday of last week there was a convention of those interested in training schools held in this city and it was well enough attended to show the interest that is being taken in these institutions throughout the state. The representatives present covered different sections of the state, and the talks and discussions indicated that those present were enthusiastic on the subject of training schools.

Other communities that never thought of the training school are beginning to wake up and to understand that the chances for educating the country school teacher have been inadequate in the past and that better conditions must prevail. Superintendents of counties that have not a training school realize that their standards are lower than the counties in which there are training schools, and they are always trying to obtain teachers that have graduated from these institutions.

It is a well known fact that the country school teacher is an underpaid person. She is generally a girl whose parents do not belong to the rich class, and who, as a general thing is unable to go away from home and attend one of the universities, or colleges or even the state normal school. Her ambition is often not high enough to prompt her to attend one of these institutions, and she cannot see enough salary ahead of her so that it would pay from a financial standpoint, for the average country district either could not or would not pay a fancy price for a school teacher even if they had the chance to secure the best in the world. And it is for the education of this class of scholars that the training school steps in and takes a place. They enable the country school to secure a teacher who has not only enough book learning to teach, but one who has also been given some instruction as to the methods of teaching, and the processes that are generally used by the best educators of today.

The visitors that were here on Friday and Saturday were both county superintendents and principals of training schools, and some very interesting sessions were held during the two days.

Making Them Toe the Mark.
The supreme court recently rendered rather a drastic decision in a saloon case at Wausau. It seems that one of the saloon keepers there sold liquor to a minor. A petition was presented to the council asking that the saloon man's license be revoked. Ten of the aldermen voted against revoking the license and eight of them voted for it, so the license was not revoked.

Then the matter was taken to the circuit court and the action of the ten aldermen who voted for the license was sustained. It was subsequently taken to the supreme court where the decision of the lower court was reversed and the decision directed that the costs amounting to eighty dollars be charged up to the ten aldermen who voted against revoking the license.

This would seem like rather a severe punishment for not being right. We should think a part of the costs would also be assessed on the circuit judge, who certainly heard all the evidence that the aldermen did and should be better qualified to decide a case according to law than the average alderman. Aldermen are much like the rest of us, and often make mistakes, and some of them cost money. We cannot see why they would not be liable in every case where they made a wrong decision, just as well as in this one.

Death of Mrs. Owen.
Mrs. W. A. Owen died at her home on Second St. on Tuesday, death being caused by a stroke of paralysis which she suffered on Monday night. Deceased was 70 years of age, and has been a resident of this city for several years, coming here with her husband from Postville, Iowa. She is survived by a husband, and six children, they being Mrs. H. S. Wagner of this city, Mrs. Geo. Kuster of Bell Plain, Minn., Mrs. Geo. Franklin of Seattle, Wash., Eugene Owen of Fairmount, Iowa, and Clarence and Rant Owen of Postville, Iowa. Deceased was a sister of Mrs. Fred Pfeiffer and Mrs. Mary McGuire of this city. The remains were taken to her former home in Postville, Iowa today for burial.

Talking Valley League.
There is talk in some of the other cities in the Wisconsin Valley about forming a Wisconsin Valley baseball league. There is no doubt but what some of the cities in the valley would go into such a proposition but it is doubtful if enough of them could be obtained to make a success of the matter. To support a league team the people of a town must turn out to weekday games, which is not generally the custom in small places. To support a winning baseball team requires considerable money, and it has to be contributed by the people of the town in which the team is located either in the form of donations or else gate receipts.

Death of Louis J. Mangold.
Louis J. Mangold, one of the old residents of Marshfield, died on Sunday last week at his home as the result of a cancer from which he had been a sufferer for a number of years. Mr. Mangold was well known in this city, having served one term as county treasurer a number of years ago, and also traveled on the road when he visited our local merchants. Mr. Mangold was a highly respected citizen of Marshfield.

Must Vacate the Premises.
Nocmington Bros., the laundries, have been notified by the Grand Rapids Improvement association to vacate their premises and intend to move as soon as it will be possible for them to do so. They are advertising for a piece of ground to lease or buy where they can establish their laundry. They have six months in which to see one of their present quarters, but will vacate as soon as it is possible for them to do so.

"Parsifal."
—The story of "Parsifal" which comes to Dalys' theater Wednesday, March 24th, is one that is familiar to most readers of English verse and prose. Tennyson utilized the theme of the Holy Grail in his "Idylls of the Round Table" and Walter May in his Welsh legend of the same subject. German readers perhaps are better acquainted with the legend through the poem by Wolfram von Esenbach entitled "Parsifal" and the natives of France read Chretien de Troyes legend of "Parsifal."

Milk Inspector Here.
A milk inspector visited this city on Saturday and procured samples from all the milkmen in the city and tested them in order to see if they were delivering the right kind of milk to their patrons. The samples all tested up in good shape and were found to be all right. The inspector reported that he found one case of lumpy jaw among the cattle that came under his observation.

Date of Band Concert.
The next concert by the Grand Rapids band will be given on the 4th of March. The concert had to be put off a little later than was the original intention owing to conditions over which the boys had no control. It is expected that the coming concert will be fully up to the standard of those that have gone before.

—On Saturday, Feb. 27th, I will have an opening display of flowers and plants from the McPhillips greenhouse of Wausau. You may see the grand display of plants on that day. All flowers and plants can be bought at the lowest price. Phone 483. O. Binzer, Opera House Block.

OUR LOCAL CHAMPS
Basket Ball Team Defeats Stevens Point in a Hotly Contested Game.

The most lurid game of basket ball that has been played in this section occurred at the high school gymnasium on Friday evening when the locals defeated the team from Stevens Point by a score of 22 to 18. Loudly cheering prevailed and at times the ring rules prevailed and at times the spectators and teachers took a hand, so that there was something doing all the time, and everybody enjoyed it immensely.

The locals took the lead from the start and maintained it until the end of the first half, at which time the score stood 13 to 6, and those who were not already too hoarse to yell immediately got busy.

During the second half the Stevens Point team caught up with the locals, and for some little time the game stood 15 to 15. Some of the visitors really got excited about this time, and one of the dispensers of knowledge from Stevens Point handed one of our local educators one in the slats. This was strictly against the rules that were being operated under and he was reprimanded accordingly and the play allowed to proceed. It looked for a few minutes as if there might be a real social time but those on the outside cooled down and things moved along at the accustomed gait in such cases.

It was a great game, anyhow, and the gymnasium was crowded both upstairs and down, those being about three hundred on hand from Stevens Point besides the people from this city.

The winning of this game gives the championship of the Wisconsin valley to the Grand Rapids team, they not having been defeated during this season.

The following from the Stevens Point Journal will give an idea of what our neighbors thought of the game:
The game was called at a few minutes after 8 o'clock, and soon Grand Rapids had a lead of five points. Bigelow soon came to rescue and threw a very pretty goal from the side lines. Scoring on both sides was kept up until the end of the half, Grand Rapids having a shade the better of the work, with the exception of about five minutes when Stevens Point loosened up and virtually ran their opponents off their feet, though little scoring was done. The half ended with a score of 13 to 6 in favor of Grand Rapids.

After the ten minute intermission, during which time our boys were given good advice and had made up their minds to win, they literally "ate things up," they scored frequently and put up an exhibition of fast play which would be hard to equal any place. With this spirit they gradually crawled up on their opponents and were for a time on point ahead. This looked like victory and the Stevens Point delegation went wild, but either the pace was too strong or, as is sometimes the case, the Stevens Point team went to pieces for a few minutes, during which time the Grand Rapids made five points, making the score 22 to 18. More fast playing followed, but the whistle for "time up" was blown and the game was over.

The defeat was one which should not worry our boys, for all who saw the game are confident that should the two teams meet on a neutral floor the tables would be turned.

The individual playing of our boys was excellent. Bigelow and Love doing the star work on the defensive, while Woodworth and Griffin were extremely aggressive. Edwards played a good game, but had the hardest proposition on the opposing side to contend with.

Referee Blomcoe gave good satisfaction to both sides, but "Eekle" Moll of Madison was umpire, was more dead than alive. He may know football, but it is doubtful if he has seen much, if any, basketball, or at least not any where the playing was as fast as that of last night. The score follows:

| Grand Rapids | Goals | Free Throws |
|-----------------|----------|-------------|
| Smith, C. | 0 | 4 |
| Wood, R. | 3 | 0 |
| Brennan, I. | 1 | 0 |
| Earley, R. | 1 | 0 |
| Warner, R. | 1 | 0 |
| Score—22 | 9 | 4 |
| Stevens Point | Goals | Free Throws |
| Bigelow, C. | 1 | 4 |
| Woodworth, I. | 4 | 1 |
| Griffin, R. | 1 | 1 |
| Edwards, I. | 0 | 0 |
| Love, R. | 0 | 0 |
| Score—18 | 6 | 6 |

A Good Western Business.

F. M. Schnabel of the F. MacKinnon Mfg. Co., returned Sunday from a five weeks trip thru the west and reports same as having been very pleasant and successful. He found that, contrary to his expectations and beliefs, their MacKinnon wagon was in demand and very highly spoken of, thus making it very easy for him to dispose of a quantity. In California he found that his company had about cornered the trade and this due to the patent hub and axle, bolster and stake in their wagon. California weather, however, was not what he expected, instead of being warm and sunny it was cold and rainy, it being their rainy season.

Federation of Women's Clubs in Session Tuesday.

The fourth regular meeting of the Federated Clubs for the year 1908-9 was held at the home of Mrs. Isaac P. Witter yesterday afternoon. This was the art meeting of the Federation, and after the reading of reports, and disposing of business matters, the program as outlined by the Art committee.

Mrs. James H. Wright gave a most interesting and instructive talk on Rockwood, Grube, Mrs. Edward Whitney on Tiffany, Favrile and Bronze and Mrs. O. T. Hengen on Cloisonne and Salsuma.

Specimens of Pottery and Bronze collected from club members were used to illustrate these talks. The readings given by Miss Howland in English and history in the high school, were greatly enjoyed and appreciated, as was also the piano solo by Mrs. Isaac P. Witter.

At the conclusion of the program, refreshments were served by the High street division. A large number of ladies were in attendance in spite of the stormy weather and the meeting a most delightful one in every way.

Those present from out of town were Mrs. McAllister of Winona, Miss Emma Paulovich of Appleton, Mrs. Georgianna Backley, Mount Rose, Cal., Mrs. Harry Whitteley and Miss Caroline Fitch of Cranmore.

Washington Party.

The members of the Historical and Literary society were entertained at the home of Mrs. Frank Garrison on Monday evening at a Washington party. The home had been appropriately decorated with the national colors and the guests were dressed in costumes appropriate to the occasion. The evening was spent in playing progressive whist, and later refreshments were served, making a most delightful evening for those in attendance.

Death of Simeon Crotteau.

Simeon Crotteau, one of the old residents of the town of Rudolph, died on Sunday afternoon about one o'clock after an illness of about nine months, the cause of death being brights disease. The deceased was one of the most respected citizens of that town. Mr. Crotteau was born at Lac-Sumption, Canada, on the 18th of November, 1815, and came to Wisconsin with his parents when he was five years of age, the family then residing at Theresa. After residing there for fourteen years they came to Rudolph, where the subject of this sketch has since resided.

In February, 1889, Mr. Crotteau was married to Evelyn Richard of Rudolph. Eighteen children were born to them, of which nine survive. The living children are: Elsie Crotteau of Marshfield, Mrs. Alice Fowler of Hills, Mrs. George Fisher of Eau Claire, Mrs. F. A. Wertheim of Clinton, Mrs. Elmer Crotteau of Kromersville, Mrs. Ernest Crotteau of Eau Claire, Ralph Crotteau of Rudolph, Ned Crotteau of Granite Falls, Wash., and Raymond Crotteau of Rudolph.

The funeral was held at 9:30 o'clock this morning from the Catholic church in Rudolph, Rev. Van Sever officiating. Mr. Crotteau was a kind and loving father, and a man who had the esteem of his neighbors, and his loss will be keenly felt in the community in which he resided.

Will Play at Marshfield.

The local basket ball team is going to Marshfield on Friday to play a game with the team up there. The boys are trying to secure a special train for the occasion, so that those who wish to see the game may go up and come back the same night. The locals have not played with the Marshfield team for some time past and as they have a strong team up there it should prove an interesting game. No doubt a special train would be well patronized.

Rural Carriers Meet.

The rural mail carriers of Wood and Marathon counties held their annual meeting in this city on Monday, the 22nd instant, that being a holiday and they having a day of rest.

There were twelve carriers in attendance at the meeting, those from out of town being George A. Gardner of Appleton, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Barker of Abbotford, George Hayward and R. J. Landel of Spencer, John Ulmer and Leo Fahrner of Marshfield, and Frank Taylor of Nekoosa. The officers elected for the ensuing year were as follows:

John Ulmer, president.

Remond Tamm, vice president.

N. H. Robinson, secretary and treasurer.

Delegates to state convention to be held at Manitowish on May 3rd are R. J. Landel, John Ulmer and Leo Fahrner.

Alternates, George Gardner, Geo. Hayward and George Barker. The delegates were instructed to make an effort to have the 1910 state convention held in this city. The next meeting of the Wood and Marathon county association will be held at Ashland on Labor day.

Historic Hotel Burns.

Stevens Point, Feb. 21. The Carran house, an historic landmark, the scene of the killing of Barker K. E. Morse and Lawyer W. W. Backtime and the shooting of "Pat" McHugh, lies in ruins tonight.

Fire from a defective chimney broke out at 8:30 p. m. and swept through the structure, a five story frame building.

The loss is $3,000. The building was owned by J. D. Carran and the estate of Henry Carran.

Erected in 1861, the Carran house was for years the leading hotel of the city. It was the rendezvous of the old time politicians and much history was made within its walls.

The few guests who were in the house this evening made their escape without experiencing danger.

CRANBERRY NOTES.

Secretary Rider of the American Cranberry Growers' Association had the following to say regarding the reports received from Wisconsin last year:

"The extent of the crop can be only approximately stated till the reports of movement are all in. These are not in this time for the published report. These already received are satisfactory of our August estimates. The western crop, concerning which any data was withheld from us, turned out to be less than half our guess, which was itself reduced 20 per cent from the previous crop."

"What Western growers gain, or hope to gain by such process of concealment, I am at a loss to understand. We were told by one who knew better, that the crop would exceed that of the previous year."

"I suggest that it would be good policy next season to have the truth of the matter and if necessary send a special envoy to get it."

February 19, 1909.

Mr. A. J. Rider.

Hammond, New Jersey.

Dear Mr. Rider:—A copy of your annual report of 1908 received and read with interest, and I am particularly what you say with regard to "western growers." I think that we are you an expansion, but not an analogy, for having desired you, because we were ourselves woefully deceived, and we gave you the truth as we saw it.

About the middle of August, we sent our inspectors around to estimate the crop, and at first they estimated it as being a little better than the crop of the previous year, but during the last ten days of August the berries began to literally drop from the vines and the crop disappeared before our eyes, and the estimates made thereafter continued to grow less, until, at last, they were less than half of the first estimates.

I do not blame you for feeling a little annoyed by the unreliable character of our reports, but I do blame you a little for assuming that we were guilty of an intention to deceive, or to "conceal," or to "withhold" from you any knowledge that we had. Candor and sincerity is not a western characteristic.

It will not be necessary for you to send "a special envoy" to get the truth as we see it. I think I sent you a report last August in which I attempted to cover the whole state.

At the coming season, you will address a letter to Harry S. Delong of Station, Wisconsin; to Andrew Blasing of City Point, Wisconsin, and one to H. K. Tang of Berlin, Wisconsin, who are our inspectors and estimators of crops, you will get the truth as it appears to them without any concealment or disposition to "withhold" information, and I would be glad at the same time if you would write to me as I have closely in touch with the prospects for crops in Wisconsin.

We have no time for any element of jealous rivalry among growers. On the contrary, we have long advocated the principles laid down by J. S. Crutcher, and have come to realize that successful marketing can be secured only through co-operation of the growers, and that our greatest enemy is jealous rivalry. That the three great things to be determined for successful marketing is a correct estimate of the supply, a correct estimate of the prospective demand, and the price that will distribute the supply in such a way as to consume the whole crop during the marketing season and leave none of it to go into the dump.

If you have read my article on the subject of Marketing, sent to you three years ago, you will see that I have covered nearly all of the points made by J. S. Crutcher, and that we regard any form of organization of growers as vastly better than no organization, and we stand ready to co-operate, and support and help every organization of cranberry growers, and we only regret that our system of organization for the purposes of selling and distributing the fruit is not more complete.

But, under the natural order of human development, it is probably necessary that we pass through the period in which we will act as "thirteen independent colonies" before we will have the good sense to unite and become a United States.

But if the time should ever come when supply will outstrip demand, the several colonies will probably unite to revolutionize the marketing business and move on as a united business thereafter.

Yours respectfully,

J. A. Gaynor.
